FIND ERROR IN OFFICIAL RECORD

Field Examiners File Report, Showing Estate of George H. Caldwell Owing County $148.31.

FORMER TREASURER IN ERROR

Make Extensive Finding on First 3 Months of Alvan Moor's Term is $1.93.

According to reports filed on the present county treasurer's as well as a former county treasurer's term of office by Field Examiners Clem T. Kain and Walter J. Twinnane, George H. Caldwell, deceased, whose term of office expired September 23, 1909, when his successor took office, is indebted to the county in the sum of $148.31 and Alvan Moor, present county treasurer, owes the county just $1.93. The news was given out to Indianapolis papers last night and the reports were received here at the treasurer's office this morning.

One report shows that the sum due to the county from the estate of George H. Caldwell is on account of errors made by the former treasurer's deputy, Walter Newhouse, and also on account of errors made in settlement between Mrs. Grace Caldwell, widow of the late George Caldwell, and administratrix of his estate, and the present treasurer, Alvan Moor, his successor. The largest mistake was the sum of $156.23 August, (1909) interest received from public depositories and not accounted for by the deputy treasurer, who was then operating the office. The former treasurer had credits which serve to offset that amount and also owed small amounts.

The report covers the last nine months of Mr. Caldwell's term, which was cut short by his death. It is shown that he died September 23, and that his successor, Alvan Moor, was elected in the next few days by the county commissioners and took the office September 28, the report covering the time from January first, 1909, until Mr. Moor took the office. Mrs. Grace Caldwell, as administratrix, assisted by Fred T. Reed of Indianapolis settled up the affairs of the office and turned it over to the present treasurer.

The estate of the late Mr. Caldwell, according to the report, is credited with the following items, current taxes charged in excess of amount collected, $7.72; outstanding warrants afterwards redeemed by Mrs. Caldwell, $5.60; error in May extension of unpaid taxes, $7.41. The estate is indebted to the county on account of the following errors, delinquent taxes collected in amount of excess charged, $.01; outstanding warrants, September 28, in excess of amount accounted for in the settlement, $12.80; August interest received from public depositories and not accounted for, $156.23. By adding the credits and debits, it will be found that the estate is indebted in the sum of $148.31.

The report on the term of Alvan Moor, extending from September 28, 1909, to December 31, of the same year, shows that Mr. Moor is indebted to the county in the sum of $1.93, due to four slight errors. At the end of his report they say, "We have made a careful examination of all records in the treasurer's office and all records in the auditor's office pertaining to the business of the treasurer's office. We have verified all footings and compared all credits taken by the treasurer with warrants drawn by the auditor and find that treasurer has been properly charged with all money coming into his hands and properly credited with all expenditures excepting as noted in the foregoing report.

CLOUDS BLOCK ECLIPSE

Rushville People Unable to Get a Glimpse of Heavenly Condition.

Last night's eclipse of the moon, schedule to take place between 6 and 8 o'clock, was "held behind closed doors." On account of the cloudy sky the disappearance of Luna behind the shadow of the earth was not visible in Rushville. There was to have been a total eclipse of the moon and it probably came off on schedule time.

Will Bennett, employed as cutter at the Rushville glove factory, met with a very painful accident shortly after nine o'clock this morning. While operating the powerful die cutting press in cutting gloves, his thumb in some manner got between the steel die and the cutting head and was practically severed so that it had to be amputated below the first joint. After the wound was dressed Mr. Bennett was taken to the home of his uncle, Will Mulno, in North Jackson street.

DO NOT BELIEVE CENSUS RETURN

Local People Prone to Discredit the Population of County as Given Yesterday.

HAS NOT LOST 799 IN 10 YEARS

Point to Many New Houses Erected and Increase in Small Towns' Population.

Many local people today were inclined to discredit the return made by the census bureau yesterday on the population of Rush county. Many there are, who honestly believe that a mistake has been made either in the last census or the one ten years previous as they do not think that the population of the county has decreased eight hundred in the last ten years.

Many business men today said that they believed that Rushville had grown in the last ten years. They believe that it has grown enough to offset any loss that might have come over the county. The great majority of local people will be compelled to believe that the city has grown in the last ten years, when a glance is taken over the residence portion of the city. They will be forced to admit, even the most pessimistic ones, that whole sections of the city have been built up in the past ten years, notably in the northwest section of the city and also in the northern and north-eastern portions of the city. Although there are many empty houses in the city, there is always a number vacant and there is every reason to believe that a greater number has been erected in the past ten years than there is now increase of empty houses over the number ten years ago.

It is also argued that all the small towns over the county have increased in population in the past ten years. It is said that not one town in the county has decreased in number of inhabitants in the last period, while nearly all of them have increased. Milroy, which is a fair example, has three hundred more people than ten years ago. All of the small towns have increased proportionately. The census report shows that the county had decreased by eight hundred. It is a very conservative estimate to say that the population of the small towns has increased by five hundred. It must then be admitted, if the above be true, that city and county districts have lost thirteen hundred people in the past ten years. Many local business men and other residents do not believe that to be true.

The vote two years ago showed that there were over five thousand voters in Rush county which was not all of them. It has always been customary to multiply the number of voters by four to estimate the population. That principal applied would raise the population above what was given by the last census.

ISSUE NUMBER OF LICENSES

County Clerk's Office Busy With Hunters.

Since the open season for hunting began, the county clerk's office has been busy issuing licenses. Thus far for the month of November there were eighty-four issued. It is expected that in the next few days a large number will be granted as last year, on the day before Thanksgiving there were seventy-six issued.

JURY REPORTS DISAGREEMENT

Twelve Men in Decatur Circuit Court Unable to Fix Sentence on Ben Noble.

SELF CONFESSED MURDERER

Case Recalls Cold Blooded Crime Enacted Near Rush-Decatur County Line Last July.

For the murder of Albert Sprague on July 17, this year, Benjamin Noble, a farm hand, yesterday afternoon faced a jury in the circuit court, and after more than an hour's wait, saw the jury report they could not agree, and were discharged with his fate still in balance. Noble was taken to Greensburg Tuesday night by Sheriff Patterson and was taken into court at 1:30. Upon the grand jury indictment being read to him, he listened to the judge charge the twelve men who were to either send him to the State penal institute for the remainder of his life, or who it was expected would vote to hang him. Noble showed no emotion as the twelve men filed out and it was very noticeable that he was not nervous. When they filed in first, after being out some time and taking numerous ballots, their foreman announced that they could not reach a verdict.

The judge instructed them to retire to their chamber and decide on a verdict, as he would not dismiss them until they did. They remained only a short time when they again filed into court. They could not agree. They stood two voting for death penalty and ten for life imprisonment. They had balloted many times and neither side could bring the other over. At no time when they were out was the voting different.

When Judge Hacker learned this, he discharged the jury and continued the case until next Saturday, when the regular petit panel will hear the case. Judge Hacker appointed County Attorney Thomas E. Davidson counsel for Noble, and announced that he would permit evidence to be introduced at the hearing Saturday so as to enlighten the jury.

Noble's crime was one of the coldest blooded murders that has been committed in this section of the State. After a quarrel with Sprague his employer, over wages, he shot Sprague to death while lying asleep beside his wife. In his confession a few days after the crime, Noble said he wished to teach farmers to keep the contracts made with their help.

WHO'S TO SUCCEED GRAY

Mayorality Question is Worrying the Heads of Connersville Councilmen

The subject now under discussion at Connersville is the election of a mayor to succeed Finley H. Gray, who will resign between now and March to take his seat in congress from the Sixth district. The law requires that a member of the council act as mayor until a successor is elected and as the city council is Republican 4 to 2, the mayor will be a Republican. The names of Dr. Harry Morrison, Thomas Stooks and L. K. Fingley have been mentioned in connection with the mayorship.

HE WILL NOT NOLLE ANY LIQUOR CASES

Deputy Prosecutor Wallace Morgan Says he Will Not Follow in Wake of His "Chief."

WHO TOOK ACTION IN SHELBY

John C. Cheney of Shelbyville, prosecutor of the sixteenth judicial district, who will retire in a few days, committed his last official act in Shelby county a few days ago. He nollied all of the liquor law violation cases on the Shelby circuit court docket—in other words he completely destroyed the suits so that the defendants will never again be brought up for trial on that charge.

When consulted on the question of doing away with the liquor law violation cases on the local court docket, Deputy Prosecutor Wallace Morgan said that he intended to take no action at all. "They will remain there and never will be nollied so far as I am concerned. I only have a few more days in office.

NOW IS TIME TO GUESS POPULATION

Much Speculation on Number of People in City Since Census Return on County is Made.

CHANCE TO MAKE 5 DOLLARS

Now is the time to send in your estimate of the population of Rushville in the Daily Republican's contest as the official count of the residents of that city will be here in a few days. Yesterday the Census Bureau at Washington announced that Rush county had 19,349 people in her borders at the time the thirteenth census was taken, which is a falling off of 799 in the last ten years. It is believed that the population of the city will come in a few days.

The official announcement yesterday caused a great deal of speculation among local people as to the probable population of the city of Rushville. It is wondered whether the loss is the same per cent in the city as it was in the county in the last ten years or whether the city has gained by the county's loss in population. The Daily Republican offers an opportunity to win five dollars as that sum will be given to the nearest correct estimate. A coupon, explaining the conditions will be found in each issue of the paper.

ACCUSED MAN DIES IN JAIL

WAS CONFINED IN BROOKVILLE

Was Charged With Shooting Wife and Firing House Near Peppertown to Hide Crime.

Charles Biddle, who was arrested near Lafayette October 4, charged with murdering his wife Annie by shooting her and burning the body near Peppertown, Franklin county, and who has since been confined in the Franklin county jail, died yesterday.

On the night of October 1, Biddle, who had been separated from his wife, went to Peppertown, near Brookville, and asked permission to stop for the night. Louis Koehler, uncle to Mrs. Biddle, gave him permission. Early the next morning Koehler, who had slept in the barn, was awakened by the sound of shots. He rushed to the house, where he was denied admittance by Biddle, who threatened to shoot him unless he withdrew.

The frightened man ran to the home of a neighbor, William Ally, a school teacher, and the two returned and found the room in flames.

They broke in the door, which had been locked, and found the body of the woman on the floor burning. A quantity of coal oil had been poured on it. The head was badly torn off by a shotgun charge. Biddle and the gun were gone.

The next day Biddle was captured at Brookston, Ind. He denied the murder, saying that he was awakened by two shots fired into the room and that he fled in terror. He asserted that he did not know his wife had been killed until he read of the affair in the Indianapolis Star. He was taken to the Brookville jail, where he had since been confined. His trial was set for the December term of court in Brookville.

APPEAL FOR LOCAL BOY'S RELEASE

Friends of Fred Bennett Confined in Reformatory, Ask That he be Given Liberty.

CLAIM THAT HE IS DYING NOW

According to an Indianapolis paper, an appeal was made before the board of pardons in Indianapolis yesterday for the release of Fred Bennett of this city, who is confined in the Indiana reformatory at Jeffersonville, convicted on a charge of petit larceny. Judge Sparks inflicted a five to fourteen years' sentence and a fine of twenty-five dollars and costs over one year ago. It will be remembered that Bennett is one of the several Bennett brothers in this city and was sent up on May 27, 1909, for stealing brass from a threshing machine near Carthage.

The appeal states that Bennett is dying of chronic catarrhal gastritis and can not live long. It is said that the board can not act on the appeal until he has served the minimum term of five years.

Woman's Power Over Man

Woman's most glorious endowment is the power to awaken and hold the pure and honest love of a worthy man. When she loses it and still loves on, no one in the wide world can know the heart agony she endures. The woman who suffers from weakness and derangement of her special womanly organism soon loses the power to sway the heart of a man. Her general health suffers and she loses her good looks, her attractiveness, her amiability and her power and prestige as a woman. Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., with the assistance of his staff of able physicians, has prescribed for and cured many thousands of women. He has devised a successful remedy for woman's ailments. It is known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a positive specific for the weaknesses and disorders peculiar to women. It purifies, regulates, strengthens and heals. Medicine dealers sell it. No honest dealer will advise you to accept a substitute in order to make a little larger profit.

TOLSTOY ONCE MORE LISTED AMONG DEAD

Widespread Report, However,
Is Happily Denied.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 17.—A message has been received from Astapovo that Tolstoy is living, that the crisis has been passed and that the temperature of the patient early this morning was 99.6.

A report that Count Tolstoy died last evening was given wide circulation, though he had seemed to be improving. His temperature had dropped, and the spitting of blood had ceased. He dictated a letter and read a little. His heart, however, showed weakness, and this kept his physicians anxious.

On at least two occasions Count Leo Tolstoy has been reported as dying, and three years ago his death was reported. Eight years ago the papers here and abroad were filled with eulogies, and then again three years back, a message telephoned from Moscow to St. Petersburg said that he had died at his country seat, Yasnaya Polyana, in the government of Tula.

YOU SAVE MONEY READING ADVERTISEMENTS

A store can afford to handle the best goods at the lowest prices that does the most business.

You can not limit a store by its size or location for the amount of business it will do in a year

The store which can afford to serve customers to the best advantage is the one that can turn over the goods more frequently and sell the most goods in a year.

The goods would remain on the shelves a long time if the merchant did not advertise continually and tell the people what he has for sale.

The goods become old before they are sold.

Therefore the store at which to trade is the store that advertises

This is true from the standpoint of variety and style, also from the standpoint of economy, for the merchant who advertises does a larger amount of business every year than the merchant who does not advertise and therefore can serve you to a better advantage.

The merchant who tells the public what he has for sale and why it is good is the one to trade with.

LIQUID CURES ECZEMA WHERE SALVE FAILS

In regard to skin diseases medical authorities are now agreed on this: Don't imprison the disease germs in your skin by the use of greasy salves, and thus encourage them to multiply. A true cure of all eczematous diseases can be brought about only by using the healing agents in the form of a liquid. WASH THE GERMS OUT. A simple wash: A compound of Oil of Wintergreen, Thymol, and other ingredients as combined in the D. D. D. Prescription, penetrates to the disease germs and destroys it, then soothes and heals the skin as nothing else has ever done.

A 25-cent trial bottle will start the cure, and give you instant relief. SOLD BY LYTLE'S DRUG STORE.

Indianapolis, Nov. 17.—The complete official returns from the election of last week, as compiled by the state canvassing board, show Indiana to have a new third party, the honor which for years was held by the Prohibition party having passed to the Socialist party. The returns show Sherman H. Jones, Socialist party candidate for secretary of state, polled 19,632 votes, while George Hitz, Prohibition candidate for the same office, polled only 17,024. The gain in the Socialist vote over 1908 is 7,494, while the Prohibitionists lost five votes.

LIFE SENTENCE FOR GOLD-BLOODED CRIME

Ben Noble Pleaded Guilty to Murder of Employer.

Greensburg, Ind., Nov. 17.—Ben Noble, who confessed having shot to death Albert Sprague, a farmer, at his home near this city on the night of July 17, was sentenced to prison for life. Noble's crime was one of the coldest blooded murders that has been committed in this county. After a quarrel with Sprague, his employer, over wages, he shot Sprague to death while the latter was lying asleep beside his wife. In his confession a few days after the crime Noble said he wished to teach farmers to keep the contracts made with their help.

Overcame Serious Obstacle. Marietta, Ga., Nov. 17.—His train stopped by a burning trestle, the Rev. Dr. B. F. Frazer, presiding elder of the Augusta district of the Southern Methodist church, after crawling over blazing timbers, mounted the cab of a special locomotive on the Seaboard Air Line and was rushed on to Marietta in order that he might preach the funeral sermon of United States Senator Clay. It was Senator Clay's wish that Dr. Frazer officiate, and the latter was summoned from Athens, where he was attending a conference. He reached here just in time to officiate.

To Get Papers Automatically

On "the pay as you enter" cars in St. Louis and Louisville machines are being installed to supply automatically newspapers to the patrons of the road. The invention which threatens to eliminate the newsboy as a picturesque feature of the American life, will automatically make change for patrons and it is expected to add greatly to the revenue of the railroads which are disposed to encourage the device.

This is the age of automatic achievement.

Already, one may have one's boots polished by inserting a foot between a cluster of revolving brushes and dropping a coin in a slot; one may weigh one's self automatically; turn on the switch of a little dictograph box and listen to a sermon, a play or opera many miles away; drop twenty-five cents in the automatic meter and get gas to light one's room or flat or cook a welsh rare-bit; drink deliciously-flavored soda-water—or lemonade with a stick in it—drawn automatically from a fountain; automatically add columns of figures after a night with the boys; listen to the latest song phonographically reproduced; read the newspaper whose type is set and distributed by an automatic machine; pose in front of a camera, drop a dime into a cavity and pull out a perfect picture of one's self; put a penny in and indulge in iced water; deposit the price of an item on the bill of fare in the automatic restaurant and take out a chosen dish; select an after-lunch-eon cigar in the same fashion; alight from a street car at the suggestion of the automatic sign which rolls off the names of the streets as the car proceeds; sends two thousand words per minute by telepost automatic telegraphy; and read the number of one's carriage as automatically indicated in front of the theater or the department store.

To make the joys of life automatically perfect a clever man is testing a device by means of which the chauffeur may crank his automobile by pressing his foot upon a lever without the bother of leaving his seat. It has remained for a genius to invent a device by which a man may lie in his chair, administer laughing gas to himself and extract his own tooth. The barber may be put out of business by a little machine which, after the customer has dropped a dime into a slot and seated himself in a chair, proceeds to lather his face, shave him, shampoo his hair and trim his mustache, while an extra attachment manicures his finger nails and polish his boots. Then there is the automatic device for handing out a marriage license; the wedding through the automatic telephone; the message to the doctor by the same means; and the automatic device for feeding the baby from a bottle filled with milk from the automatically-milked cow; and the device to lull it to sleep by an automatically-rocked cradle. And Edison says this is not the end.

The Socialist vote naturally gained as there are many people who could enjoy living on other men's brains and industry.

Upper berths in the Pullman cars come down, but the porter's smile when he removes a few specks with his whisk broom continues at aviation rates.

Champ Clark says the new Congress will pass a tariff bill. But it will take more than his Pennsylvania avenue mules to drag it through the White house.

The Taft tariff commission plan provides too much scientific adjustment and too little pork for Democratic districts to suit the newly elected Congressmen.

During this Teddyesque silence one can hear New Orleans and San Francisco disputing about the exposition, and calling each other bad names across the back yard fence.

Uncle Joe Cannon issued the following characteristic statement: "I am elected by 6,000. I am a Republican. I am kept in faith. I have been indorsed and have not apologized for the legislation of this congress." Enough said.

Owing to the small vote cast by the Prohibitionists, they have dropped to fourth place, the Socialists having gained third place by their increased vote of 17,000 in the State. It is remarkable how tenaciously the handful of Prohibitionists cling to their cause.

President Taft's proposition to divert immigration from New York and other large centers to the rural districts will find hearty approval. This country in its development has reached the stage where the need is for more workers in the country and fewer accessions to the population of the great and already overcrowded centers. The immigrants from Italy, Hungary, Russia, and Scandinavia have already shown that they are capable of becoming successful tillers of the soil. If the government can help them to that success by the simple expedient of landing them at other points along the coast, it will at once and the same time serve them and the rest of us a good turn.

Tale of Woe.

(New York Sun.)

The loveliest thing seen on this orb of the earth since Balder the Beautiful has been stricken down. All the Marys have shut themselves up in the vineclad cottages and weep, weep, weep.

All the living lords of Hoosier letters, Riley, Ade, Nicholson, McCutcheon, Booth Tarkington, "brilliant Fred Landers," David Graham Phillips, J. Byron Elmore, are saddened by Indiana recreancy to the Grand Young Man. "The Jesse James of high finance" chortle in their glee. Humanity is ashamed of itself.

When Joe Bailey's accursed hands, gripping the Grand Young Man's weazand, sought to silence that voice uplifted in the Senate at least not less than eight hours every day, a sob rose in every feeling throat. What Bailey's hands failed to do, the Colonel's voices have accomplished. Only a few months and the Infant Phenomenon shall be heard in the Senate no more, alas, no more!

We share in this passionate woe. What fonder eyes than ours have pored over the Albertiad, have watched its hero climb the stairs of greatness? May we not bid him be of good hope and go where newer glory waits him? When humanity recovers from the first shock it will look forward to many "holy hours" from this sweet champion. He should give up the intention attributed to him of writing his autobiography. Others can write children's books, perhaps, as well as he, but who else can so set forth the fervent and the flowery word, so rouse to dithyrambic flutterings the moral pocket handkerchiefs of Chautauqua? It is known to all that Chautauqua has been the other dream of his young life; now he can, he will, make that dream reality. The Senate is too cold for a heart so warm and true. He is a born Chautauqua orator. Let Indiana give up her selfish mourning. The Senate's loss is Chautauqua's gain.

Causes and Remedies.

(New Castle Courier.)

The census returns as made up and published from day to day are showing a decided diminution of population in the rural districts of many States. This is due in part to the drift of boys and young men from the farms to the cities for seemingly more attractive and more profitable employment, to the larger use of agricultural machinery whereby the need of farm help is lightened, and to immigration from the older states, where land is high priced, to the South and West, where land is cheap.

The completed compilation and analysis of the census will probably show a better agricultural condition than present returns would indicate, the increase in the sections to which immigration has tended going to decrease the percentage of loss noted in other sections. Yet it is safe to say that a loss will be shown, large enough to claim the attention of economists and to excite their endeavors to find a remedy.

We do not consider the tendency of the young men to desert the farm to satisfy their ambition in other lines as a serious affair, for the father, or in most cases, other brothers remain a home. The real trouble is the tendency of farmers to buy adjoining lands. Large farms on which manual labor is supplanted by machinery are not beneficial to the community. Small holdings with intensive cultivation mean more people to the square mile than a larger accumulation of wealth.

As an illustration, let any person familiar with the sales and purchase of farms in Henry county during the past twenty years recall to memory any group of transfers and observe how large a per cent. was for additions to present holdings of the purchasers, and how few were of divided estates or a portion of an existing farm. The conditions here are but a sample of those all over Indiana, and this in spite of demonstration time and again that larger profit per acre await intelligent, intensive, scientific cultivation of a small tract of land than the usual haphazard running over of a large farm.

QUAILS ARE WISE SEEKING SAFETY

Local Nimrods Complain That They Are More Scarce This Year Than Ever Before.

MAY BE ON GAME PRESERVES

Saddest News For Sportsman Is That

Hunting License Famine is Imminent in Indiana.

The hunting season is now on in full blast and nimrods are bringing in a large number of quail and rabbits as a result of each day's sport. The farmers, however, are taking care that there is not a wholesale slaughter of Bob Whites and Cotton tails on their lands.

The hunters, before they start for a day's sport, have to buy a hunters' license from the county clerk, which costs $1. This is good for one year. The license should be taken on hunting trips in case the hunter should be intercepted by a game warden. Each hunter, except when hunting on land owned or rented by himself is required to procure in advance the consent of the land owner or tenant of the land on which he desires to hunt.

Local nimrods complain of the absence of quail in every section of the county. Previous to the lifting of the ban on hunting Bob Whites, hunters in roaming the fields and woods locating coveys reported quail in abundance. It is now figured that they have sought refuge on the game preserves, where they are free from the aim of hunters, with the exception of the unsportsmanlike poaches, who insist at their peril in hunting on the game preserves.

The saddest news for sportsmen is that Indiana is in the midst of a hunting license famine. So great has been the drain on the office of the State fish and game commission in preparation for the present open season that the visible supply has been reduced to five hundred license forms, with the State printer unable to make a new delivery for two weeks. The five hundred on hand are in the possession of George W. Miles, State fish and game commissioner, and county clerk after county clerk is writing in and demanding that supplies be sent.

The demand for licenses far outstripped the estimate which Mr. Miles had made in ordering the blanks and when he appealed to the State printer it was found that the printer was out of the specially prepared paper on which the blanks are printed.

As a consequence, the hunter who hasn't been successful in obtaining a license will be compelled to forego his shooting until the new supply of blanks is received unless he can get one of the five hundred now on hand.

Local hunters need have no worry on that score as the county clerk has four hundred licenses, a supply which will last throughout the season.

Here are some facts that every hunter ought to know:

You can hunt quail with dog and gun between the 10th day of November and the 1st day of the following January.

You can hunt, destroy or possess ruffed grouse during the same period.

You can not hunt, kill or possess more than fifteen quail in any one day of the open season.

You may hunt wild geese, wild duck, brant or other water fowl from September 1st to the fifteenth day of the following April.

You can not shoot, kill or possess more than fifteen wild geese, wild duck, brant or other water fowl in any one day in the open season.

You can not kill, trap or possess, sell or offer for sale any wild bird.

You may shoot rabbits from the tenth of November until the first day of the following October.

These laws carry heavy penalties for all violators. The game wardens are soliciting the hearty co-operation of every sportsman to the end that the game may be protected, the laws obeyed and the penalties avoided.

START HOLIDAY SHOPPING SEASON

Local People Are Already Beginning to Buy And Getting Pick of Stock.

THEY AVOID BEING JOSTLED

Notwithstanding Christmas is almost six weeks in the future, there is already much evidence in Rushville of its approach. Holiday shopping is on, not very lively, of course, yet there is more or less of it being done by those who adhere to the homely adage that the early bird gets the worm. However, holiday shopping is not unlike the paving of taxes, in that there are many who wait until the last minute to get busy and the result is that there is a big rush and the last days preceding Christmas.

Many holiday shoppers, however, are perceptibly getting away from this delay and are doing their holiday shopping earlier than formerly. This they find much to their advantage, for they get their pick of the holiday stocks, and besides are not obliged to take a course in physical culture or foot ball to prepare themselves for the ordeal.

AMUSEMENTS

The Star Grand offers a Selig picture tonight entitled "Two Boys in Blue." This picture opens up with a scene of a wild west show, in which Tom and Jerry are the principal cowboy riders. The show becomes stranded and the boys join the U. S. army. The officer in charge soon finds he has found two real knights of the saddle and decides to send them scouting to locate the hostile tribe of Indians which are causing the uprising. They soon locate the Indians and a battle follows in which the two boys in blue come out victorious, and they are decorated with honors and they plainly show that this world isn't so bad after all. Earl Robertson will sing "When Mr. Yankee Doodle Comes to Town." Tomorrow night will be Tri Kappas' night.

The Palace has two Biograph films for tonight. The first picture is entitled "The Passing of a Grouch." That a grouch is contagious is a well established fact, for the man with the grouch contaminates those he comes in contact with. So it is with the man in this picture. The second picture, "The Proposal" is the story of a man who decides too marry and suddenly changes his mind. A new illustrated song will be sung.

The Vaudet has for tonight an Imp film, "You Saved My Life." This is a good comedy. The picture also shows how moving pictures are made which will interest many people who never saw a picture made. A new illustrated program will be sung.

The musical portion of the program was furnished by a victrola, which was very much enjoyed. Short talks were made by Judge Will Sparks, Prof. J. H. Scholl, and the Rev. V. W. Turner. Light refreshments were served after which a general good time was enjoyed.

"Well," said Nat, chuckling, "I'll write that to my chum. He'll—"

"Oh, I can tell," Graham interrupted. "Now, I— Well, you see, I've been a failure in business. So far as that goes, I've been a failure in everything all my life."

Duncan stared for a moment, then offered his hand. "For luck," he explained, meeting Graham's puzzled gaze as his hand was taken.

Wondering, Graham shook his head, and gratitude made his old voice tremulous. He put a hand over Duncan's, patting it gently.

"I want you to know, my boy, that I appreciate," His voice broke. "It's mighty kind of you to buy the sirup—very kind!"

"Nothing of the sort. It's just because I've got great business ability," Duncan laughed quietly and moved away. "We'll want to clean up a bit," said he. "Got a broom? I'll raise the

BALDHEADED MEN

Ignorance of the Hair Causes Much Baldness Among Men.

Early piety doesn't cause baldness, neither does any kind of piety. Some baldheaded men console themselves with the idea that baldness is caused by a superabundance of gray brain matter, and would have the world believe that a baldness is a sign of great intellect.

Such, however, is not the case. Ninety-nine times in one hundred, baldness is caused by dandruff germs which dig down deep into the roots of the hair, destroy its vitality and cause it to fall out.

All this may come gradually and take time, but as an up-to-date humorist would say "what's time to a dandruff germ?"

If you have dandruff, the little invisible, persistent devils called dandruff germs are at work. Destroy them at once or sooner or later they will cause your hair to fall out and you will be compelled to take your place in the baldheaded class.

In France baldheads are few because men understand how to care for the hair. Parisian Sage is a hair grower and invigorator that is guaranteed by Johnson's Drug Store to grow hair if the hair root is not already destroyed, to eradicate dandruff, stop itching scalp and falling hair, or money back.

50 cents for a large bottle at Johnson's Drug Store and druggists everywhere on money back plan.

der can we do to bring business to this bum joint?"

He raked his surroundings with a discouraged glance.

"Oh," he said thoughtfully, "it's the limit."

Five minutes later Ben Sperry found him in the same position, his head bent in perplexed reverie. Sperry had been traveling for Gresham & Jones, a wholesale drug house in Elmira, more years than I can remember. His friendship for Sam Graham, contracted during the days when Graham's was the drug store of Radville, has survived the decay of the business. He's a square, decent man. Sperry, and has wasted many an hour trying to persuade Sam to pay a little more attention to the business.

"Anything I can do for you?" chirped Duncan cheerfully, dropping off the counter as Sperry entered.

"No-o," amazedly. "I just wanted to see old Sam. Is he upstairs?"

"No; Mr. Graham's not in at present," Duncan told him civilly.

Sperry wrinkled his brows over this problem. "You working here?" he asked.

"Yes, sir."

"Well, I'll be hanged!"

"Let us hope not," said Duncan pleasantly. He waited a moment, a little irritated. "Sure there's nothing I can do for you?"

"No-o," said Sperry slowly, struggling to comprehend. "Thank you just the same."

"Not at all," Duncan turned away.

"You see," Sperry pursued, "I don't buy from drug stores; I sell to 'em."

Duncan faced about with new interest in the man. "Yes?" he said encouragingly.

"My card," volunteered Sperry, fishing the slip of pasteboard from his waistcoat pocket. He dropped his sample case beside the store and plumped down in the chair, to the peril of its existence. "I don't make this town very often," he pursued while Duncan studied his card. "Sothorn & Lee are the only people I sell to here, but I never miss a chance to chin awhile with old Sam. So, having half an hour before train time, I thought I'd drop in."

"Mr. Graham doesn't order from

"LET US HOPE NOT," SAID DUNCAN.

Your house, then?"

"Doesn't order from anybody, does he?"

"I don't know. I've just come here. He'll be sorry to have missed you, though. He's just stepped out to wire your house—I gather from the fact that it's in Elmira; he mentioned that town. Not the firm name—for some sirups."

"You don't mean it?" Sperry gasped. "What's struck him all of a sudden? He ain't put in any new stock for ten years, I reckon."

"Well, you see," Duncan explained artfully, "I've persuaded him in a way to try to make something out of the business here. We're going to do what we can, of course, in a small way at first."

Sperry wagged a dubious head. "I dunno," he considered. "Sam's a nice old duffer, but he ain't got no business sense and never had. You can see for yourself how he's let everything run to seed here. Sothorn & Lee took all his trade years ago."

"Yes, I know. That's why he needs me," said Duncan brazenly. In his soul he remarked, "Oh, Lord!" in a tone of awe. His colossal impudence dazed even himself. "But don't you think he could get back some of the trade if the store was stocked up?"

"No doubt about that at all," Sperry averred; "he'd get the biggest part of it."

"You think so?"

"Sure of it. You see, everybody round here likes Sam, and Sothorn & Lee have always been outsiders. They would swing to this shop in a minute just on account of that. Fact is, I wasted a lot of talk on our firm a couple of years ago trying to make our people give him some credit, but they couldn't see it. He owed them a bill then that was so old it had grown whiskers."

"And still owes it, I presume?"

"You bet he still owes it. Always will. It's so small that it ain't worth while suing for."

"Look here, Mr. Sperry, how much is this bill with the whiskers?"

"About $50, I think," said the traveling man, fumbling for his wallet. "I'm supposed to ask for payment every time I strike town, you know, so I always have it with me, but I haven't had the heart to say a word to Sam for a good long time. Here it is."

Duncan studied carefully the memorandum: "To Mds. as per bill rendered, $47.85." "I wonder," he murmured.

"Eh?" said Sperry.

"I was wondering. Suppose you were to tell your people that there's a young fellow here who'd like to give this store a boom. Say he wants a little credit because—because Mr. Graham won't let him put in any cash?"

"Not a bit of use," Sperry negated. "I would myself, but the house—no."

"But suppose I pay this bill?"

"Pay it? You really mean that?"

"Pay it? You really mean that?"

NO MORE GRAY HAIR

It is easier to preserve the color of the hair than to restore it, although it is possible to do both. Our grandmothers understood the secret. They made and used a "sage tea," and their dark, glossy hair long after middle life was due to this fact. Our mothers have gray hairs before they are fifty, but they are beginning to appreciate the wisdom of our grandmothers in using "sage tea" for their hair, and are fast following suit. The present generation has the advantage of the past in that it can get a ready to use preparation called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur. As a scalp tonic and color restorer, this preparation is vastly superior to the ordinary "sage tea" made by our grandmothers, and it can be bought for 50 cents and $1 a bottle at almost any first-class drug store, or will be sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

For sale and recommended by Hargrove & Mullin.

"Certainly I mean it," Duncan produced the wad of bills which Kellogg had furnished him the night before his departure from New York. Thus far he had broken only one of the $500 gold certificates, and of that one he had the greater part left. Living is anything but expensive in Radville.

"I'm beginning to understand that I was cut out for an actor," he told himself as he thumbed the roll with a serious air and an assumed indifference, which permitted Sperry to estimate its size pretty accurately.

"That's quite a stack of chips you're carrying," Sperry observed.

Duncan's hand airily waived the remark into the limbo of the negligible. "A trifle—a mere trifle," he said casually. "I don't generally carry much cash about me. Haven't for five years," he added irrepressibly. He extracted a fifty dollar certificate from the sheaf and handed it over. "I'll take a receipt, but you needn't mention this to Mr. Graham just now."

"No, certainly not," Sperry scrawled his signature to the bill.

"And about that line of credit?"

"Well, with this paid I guess you could have what you needed in moderation. Of course—"

"My name is Duncan—Nathaniel Duncan."

Sperry made a memorandum of it on the back of an envelope. "Any former business connections?"

"None that I care to speak about," Duncan confessed glumly.

Sperry's face lengthened. "No references?"

It took thought and after thought courage, but Duncan hit upon the solution at length. "Do you know L. J. Bartlett & Co., the brokers?"

"Do I know J. Pierpont Morgan?" "Then that's all right. Tell your people to inquire of Harry Kellogg, the junior partner. He knows all about me."

Noting the name, Sperry put away the envelope. "That's enough. If he says you're all right you can have anything you want." He consulted his watch. "H-m-m! Train to catch. But let's see. What do you need here?"

Duncan reviewed the empty shelves, his face glowing. "Pills," he said, with a laugh—"all kinds of pills and everything for a regular, sure enough drug store. Mr. Sperry, everything Sothorn & Lee carry and a lot of attractive things they don't—small lots, you know, until I see what we can sell."

"I see. You leave it to me. I probably know what you need better than you do. I'll make out a list this afternoon and mail it tonight with instructions to ship it at the earliest possible moment."

"Splendid!" Duncan told him. "You do that and don't worry about our making good. I'm going to put all my time and energy into this proposition and—"

"Then you'll make good all right," Sperry assured him. "All anybody's got to do is look at you to see you're a good business man." He returned Duncan's pressure and picked up his sample case. "S'long," said he and left briskly, leaving Duncan speechless.

As if to assure himself of his sanity he put a hand to his brow and stroked it cautiously. "Heavens," he said and sought the support of the counter. "That's twice today I've been told that in the same place!"

"It's funny," he said, half dazed. "I never could have pulled that off for myself."

Given to Those Who Need it.

San Francisco, Cal.—"To anyone who is run-down or who needs a good blood purifier, I want to recommend Vinol the great cod liver and iron tonic. I was run-down, feeling badly and only weighed about 140 pounds. I took a course of Vinol—it purified my blood, gave me a fine appetite, and built me right up. Now I am well and strong, weigh 175 pounds, and, in fact, never felt better in my life." John S. Charles, 3264 17th St., San Francisco, Cal. (We guarantee this testimonial to be genuine.)

Vinol is a delicious combination of the health-giving properties of the cod's liver, with the grease eliminated, and tonic iron added, blended in a mild medicinal wine.

If your blood is poor or sluggish, your appetite poor, your digestion weak or your vitality not up to the standard, or if you are suffering from chronic coughs, colds or bronchial troubles, try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you. "Goodbye, my boy."

Duncan watched the old man move slowly out of sight, then, with a groan, sat down on the counter to think it over.

"Not at all," Duncan turned away.

"You see," Sperry pursued, "I don't buy from drug stores; I sell to 'em."

Duncan faced about with new interest in the man. "Yes?" he said encouragingly.

"My card," volunteered Sperry, fishing the slip of pasteboard from his waistcoat pocket. He dropped his sample case beside the store and plumped down in the chair, to the peril of its existence. Grew a Full Growth of Hair On a Bald Head

Here's the Proof

For two or three years my hair had been falling out and getting quite thin, until the top of my head was entirely bald. About four months ago I commenced using Sage and Sulphur. The first bottle seemed to do some good and I kept using it regularly, until now I have used four bottles. The whole top of my head is now fairly covered with hair and it keeps coming in thicker. I shall keep on using it a while longer, as I notice a constant improvement.

AMAZING TRAIL OF ROBBERIES

Philadelphia Police Claim to Have Made Good Catch.

BOLD WORK OF TWO SERVANTS

After Working in Royal Palaces, With Large Profit to Themselves, It Is Said, Skilled Coachman and Maid Servant Transfer Their Operations to the Homes of Wealthy Families in This Country.

Philadelphia, Nov. 17.—An amazing trail of robberies is said to have marked the career of a man and woman arraigned before Magistrate Scott and held to await requisition from New York on one of the charges. This couple are said to number Queen Wilhelmina of Holland and members of several noble families in Europe among their victims, and to have concocted many of the schemes while in the employ of President Fallieres of France at his chateau near Paris.

The man is John Dillea, and the woman is Idalia De Muelmeister, and they were arrested in this city. The couple are said to have robbed many wealthy families in this country. The police mention one robbery in Chicago of a necklace valued at $5,000, and the theft of jewelry valued at $3,000 from Mr. Kubie of Far Rockaway. What appeared to be a trifling mistake ended the chase after the couple. While Dillea is married and has a wife and four children in Belgium, the home of both, he led the woman arrested with him to believe that he was a single man, and had planned, it is said, to dispose of the plunder in this country and go to France, where they were to be married in the near future. The news that Dillea was married unnerved the woman, detectives assert, but she told them that despite the alleged deception of which she was the victim, she still loved him.

She informed the police that they first met at the chateau of President Fallieres, outside the city of Paris, where she was employed as a domestic, and she fell in love with him. He worked as a coachman. He promised to marry her, and they left for Ireland, where they obtained employment at the palace of Queen Wilhelmina. The police say that they have not learned how much they got at the Holland palace. From Holland they went to Germany, where they obtained employment with many wealthy families. From there they came to the United States sixteen months ago. They went to Chicago, from there to Argentine republic, then to New York and secured employment with Mr. Kubie, Dillea as a coachman and the woman as maid.

CHARGE OF PERJURY

Another Indictment Has Been Returned Against Robert E. Wilson.

Chicago, Nov. 17.—Representative Robert E. Wilson, re-elected to the Illinois house, has been indicted again by the November grand jury on a charge of perjury. The true bill was an amplification of the old charge of perjury, based on the same testimony he gave before the May grand jury, when he denied having presided over a distribution of the "jackpot" July 15, 1909, in the Southern hotel at St. Louis. The indictment is another result of the charges made by C. A. White, that the seat of United States Senator Lorimer was obtained by bribery. The "jackpot" sessions were exposed by White in connection with his Lorimer charges.

Prussian Soldiers Must Pray.

Berlin, Nov. 17.—During a speech in the early part of his reign, the kaiser expressed the conviction that "a good soldier must be a good Christian." When assisting Sunday at the introduction of a new army corps, Chaplain Leinz, chief chaplain of the emperor's guard, said the kaiser in an address to recruits on Nov. 9, on the occasion of their taking the oath of loyalty, used these words: "It is my wish that my soldiers shall say the Lord's prayer every day."

Customs Frauds Alleged.

New York, Nov. 17.—The seizure by United States Marshal Henkel of the effects of the firm of Joseph Brooke & Co., representatives of a large woolen firm that has headquarters in England, is the first move by federal officials against New York agencies of foreign firms that of late have been suspected of violation of the customs laws. The goods found in the store easily cover the $200,000 out of which the government claims it has been cheated.

Office Holding Comes High.

Boston, Nov. 17.—The successful campaign of Eugene N. Foss, the Democratic candidate for governor at last week's election, cost him $37,000, according to his sworn return, just filed. This is $20,000 more than was expended by Governor Eben S. Draper, who was defeated.

Thinks He Holds Record.

Sterling, Ill., Nov. 17.—A daughter born to Mr. and Mrs. John Spitts made Clifford S. Vandemark of this city a grandfather at the age of thirty-three years. He thinks he breaks the state record.

MANY WANT IT

Speakership of Indiana House an Attractive Plum.

Indianapolis, Nov. 17.—There is now a large field of candidates for the speakership of the new house of representatives in the Indiana legislature, including W. W. Spencer and Adolph Seidensticker of Marion county, Joseph M. Cravens of Jefferson county, Harry G. Strickland of Hancock county, Albert J. Venneman of Vanderburg county, Adam Wise of Marshall county, M. C. Thornton of Clark county, and John B. Faulkner of Laporte county. It is said, too, that Representative E. S. Mitchell of Washington county may announce himself as a candidate. W. S. Racey of Vincennes was talked of as a candidate for speaker, but he has declared emphatically that he will not be a candidate.

Odd Fellows Are Growing.

Indianapolis, Nov. 17.—An appropriation of $5,000 toward the entertainment of the sovereign grand lodge when it meets in this city next year was decided on at the opening session of the grand lodge I. O. O. F., of Indiana. The report of the grand secretary showed that the total membership in the state June 30, 1910, was 79,843, a net gain in membership since Dec. 31, 1909, of 1,428. The total number of lodges in the state was 760.

Farmers' Associations to Merge.

Indianapolis, Nov. 17.—Steps toward a big merger of farmers' organizations were taken by the American Society of Equity in convention here. A committee was appointed to confer concerning plans to consolidate with the National Grange and the Farmers' Educational and Co-Operative Union.

Petz Given New Place.

Indianapolis, Nov. 17.—John L. Petz has been elected superintendent of the Indiana Children's Home Society to take the place of Sumner W. Haynes, resigned. Mr. Petz, who is state statistician, will retire from the state office next Monday, when he will be succeeded in that position by Thos. Broiley.

Made a Lucky Find.

Terre Haute, Ind., Nov. 17.—W. W. Boyles would not wait for his wife to cook oysters and by eating them raw he is $200 better off, for he found a pearl of that value in his plate.

The old officers of the Illinois Central railroad, with the exception of President Harahan, who is to retire on next January, when he reaches the age limit, have been re-elected.

PENPED UNDER TREE

Wood Chopper Tries to Cut Throat to End His Misery.

Anderson, Ind., Nov. 17.—While pinned beneath a tree, with his back broken and hips crushed, Edward Hiser, aged twenty-four, a farmer, tried to commit suicide and end his sufferings. Hiser was cutting trees, when one fell and almost half buried his body. His two companions were unable to release him. One ran to a nearby farmer's home for assistance, while the other hurried to a telephone to call a physician.

When they returned they found Hiser slashing his throat with his pocket knife. He was under the tree half an hour before he could be rescued. Physicians say his injuries are fatal.

Havemeyer Family Retires.

New York, Nov. 17.—Horace Havemeyer has resigned from the directorate of the American Sugar Refining company and will also cease to act as head of the sales department after Jan. 1. The policy of the New England interests, which now control the company, is understood to have desired the final withdrawal of the Havemeyer family from active direction in the corporation.

This indicates the action of Foley Kidney Pills as S. Parsons, Battle Creek, Mich., illustrates: "I have been afflicted with a severe case of kidney and bladder trouble for which I found no relief until I used Foley Kidney Pills. These cured me entirely of all my ailments. I was troubled with backaches and severe shooting pains with annoying urinary irregularities. The steady use of Foley Kidney Pills rid me entirely of all my former troubles. They have my highest recommendations." Sold by F. B. Johnson & Co.

MR. TAFT STILLS THOSE RUMORS

Panama No Longer In Fear of Annexation.

STATEMENT MADE EMPHATIC

In the Clearest Possible Terms Mr.

Taft Tells Panama Folks That They Are in No Danger of Losing Their National Identity, a Statement Which Was Received With Great Cheers—Culebra Cut Inspected.

Panama, Nov. 17.—President Taft inspected the Culebra cut of the canal, going over the ground thoroughly. Later he heard the complaints of the canal employees who are paid by the hour, who are dissatisfied with the remuneration and demand higher pay. After listening to their side of the question, Mr. Taft said he could not agree with them that they were underpaid. He added that as a matter of fact, labor on the canal was the best paid in the world. Subsequently he reviewed the marines stationed at Bas Obispo, who made a fine showing.

The dinner given in President Taft's honor by President Arosemena was attended by 200 prominent Panamanians. Great interest was manifested in what Mr. Taft would say about the reports that have been circulated here for some time to the effect that it was the intention of the United States to annex the republic of Panama. What he did say put a quietus on all such rumors. After referring to the progress of the work on the canal he continued: "The treaty between the two countries makes the United States the guarantor of the integrity of the republic of Panama, and therefore in a sense the guardian of the liberties of her people, secured by your constitution. Our responsibility, therefore, for your government requires us to closely observe the course of the conduct of those selected as officials of your government, and to insist that they be selected according to this. All this makes us specially interested in what is done in your government, but this relation neither calls for nor permits annexation. We are here to construct, maintain, operate and defend a world canal, which runs through the heart of your country, and you have given us the necessary sovereignty and jurisdiction over that part of your country occupied by the canal to enable us to do it effectively. We do not wish further responsibility in respect of your government than is necessary to carry out our purpose to construct and maintain the canal. We have no desire to add to the territory under our jurisdiction except as the operation of the canal may require. We have guaranteed the integrity of your republic, and for us to annex your territory would be to violate the guaranty, and nothing would justify that so long as Panama performed her part under the treaty.

"I wish to make my statement emphatic because irresponsible persons, without the slightest foundation, have started rumors that my visit to the isthmus was to promote annexation, when nothing could be further from the truth."

When Mr. Taft had concluded his remarks, which were listened to with the keenest attention, he was greeted with long-continued cheering.

SPEEDWAY TRAGEDY

Skidding Auto Driven by Woman Plunged Into Crowd at Raleigh.

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 17.—At the state fair grounds here yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Wolcott, the wife of the manager of a garage, began driving an auto around the course with reckless speed. At the quarter-mile turn, after several laps around the track, her machine skidded and broke through the railing, dashing into the thousands of spectators lining the course. Two negro women were killed by the machine. Mrs. A. H. Mooneyhan, wife of a prominent merchant of Raleigh, had her back broken and is dying at a hospital, and three other persons were dangerously if not fatally injured. Mrs. Wolcott and her husband, who was in the machine with her, were not badly hurt.

He Was a Mexican Citizen.

Eagle Pass, Tex., Nov. 17.—The mother of Antonio Rodriguez, the Mexican who was burned at the stake at Rock Springs for the murder of Mrs. Lem Henderson, lives here. She has informed the Mexican government, that is investigating the lynching, that her son was born in Porfirio Diaz, Mexico, twenty-two years ago. He was therefore a Mexican citizen.

His Death Was Sudden.

New York, Nov. 17.—Word has been received here that William K. Thorn, grandson of the late Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt, was found dead in his bed at Pau, France, yesterday. Only the day before he had attended a hunt, and seemed in excellent health. He was fifty-nine years old.

Feudist Still at Large.

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 17.—Bad Jake Noble, the Breathitt county outlaw, has again eluded pursuit. Report that he had killed two men and wounded others and been himself wounded near Saylorsville was definitely established as untrue.

QUESTION ARISES WITH NEW HOUSE

Will Rush County Still be Allowed to Elect Representative and Not One Jointly?

POPULATION BELOW THE LIMIT

Local politicians have been figuring considerably on whether or not Rush county will be able to uphold its present standing by electing a representative to the State legislature at the next election two years hence. The basis for choosing a representative is by population and the county which is represented by one legislator must have at least twenty-two thousand people. That is the unit at present and any county with a smaller population must combine with another and elect a representative.

Two years ago and in fact for the past ten years, Rush county has really been too small to elect one representative, but no objection has ever been made. It is thought that with a Democratic house, Rush county may experience some difficulty in following the old precedent. Or possibly they may change the unit so that Rush county will be forced to elect a joint representative.
